

Biographies:

Jonathan Pitt is Assistant Professor of Education at Nipissing University. His research interests include aboriginal issues in education, the role of the staffroom in mainstream schools, and teacher development.